Damien Bruneau joined chambers in October 2019 following the successful completion of his pupillage and worked full time as a Judicial Assistant in the Commercial Court in early 2020.

Prior to joining the Bar, he worked at the Law Commission of England and Wales and the South African Constitutional Court. Before pursuing a career in law, Damien taught philosophy at the University of the Witwatersrand in Johannesburg, South Africa.

Damien has developed a broad commercial practice in line with chambers' profile and has a particular interest in work that involves an international element. He is currently part of the counsel team on Dame Linda Dobbs' Review which concerns issues relating to fraud committed in the Reading branch of HBOS in the mid-2000s and the subsequent handling of those issues by Lloyds Banking Group.
