Laurentia was called to the Bar in 2012 in Australia, 2014 in New York, and 2018 in England & Wales. She has a broad commercial practice with a particular interest in the intersection of commercial and public law.

Before being called to the London Bar, Laurentia was an attorney at Quinn Emanuel Urquhart & Sullivan LLP in New York from 2013-2018 and, before that, was a litigation lawyer in Australia in government and leading commercial firms in the private sector.

Laurentia has trial and appellate experience at all stages of a dispute including evaluating claims and defences, fact and expert disclosure and inspection, both led and unled advocacy at hearings, trials, and arbitrations.

After graduating first in her year at the University of Western Australia, Laurentia served as a judicial assistant to the Chief Justice of Australia, The Hon. R.S. French AC, at the High Court of Australia from 2011 – 2012. Before that, Laurentia worked for three years within the Western Australian government legal service as the legal research assistant to the WA Solicitor General and WA State Solicitor, where she worked on constitutional cases in the High Court of Australia alongside the Solicitor General and provided advice to the Attorney General including in relation to constitutional and administrative law, statutory construction and legislative drafting, criminal and civil law.
