Ritchie Structured Investments Limited* (2013, Financial Services Division; Grand Court of the Cayman Islands): Acting (with Jeremy Walton, instructed by Linklaters, New York) for Barclays in giving effect to a letter of request from a US Court for the examination of three former directors of various investment funds. The funds had borrowed c.US$1.2 billion from Barclays to make significant investments in entities which formed a part of the Petters Group – later exposed as a Ponzi Scheme.
- Boeing v. RSC Energia and others (US District Court, Southern District of California) advising (with Jeremy Walton and Gillian Duffy) the Defendant Russian state space agency, RSC Energia, on Cayman law issues arising from a claim by Boeing in respect of a Joint Venture between leading space technology and aeronautical engineering companies in the US, Russia, Ukraine and Norway for the creation of a service called “Sea Launch” to send commercial satellites into orbit from redesigned oil platforms.

Justice Andrew Jones QC) for a freezing injunction brought in support of a US$43 million claim under the Cayman Islands’ Fraudulent Dispositions Law (akin to section 423, Insolvency Act 1986: transactions at an undervalue and to defraud creditors) against a well-known Florida property developer who had transferred US$70 million into an offshore trust, in the face of claims, and later judgments, by his banking creditors in Florida. Assisted with researching the relevant Cayman, Jersey and Florida law on transactions defrauding creditors, first draft skeleton, affidavit evidence and draft pleading. Advice given in connection with the potential settlement of NY proceedings brought by the assignee of derivative transactions which used Weaving as part of the notional reference portfolio. RBC had hedged their risk on the notional portfolio by purchasing actual Weaving shares, which were redeemed for a payment of cUS$5m shortly before the discovery of the fraud at the fund: see the well-known decision that the directors were liable for a complete failure to discharge their duties, with judgment entered against them for US$111 million: Weaving Macro Fixed Income Fund (in liquidation) v. Peterson and others (Grand Court of the Cayman Islands, before Hon. Justice Andrew Jones QC).
- Acting (with Stephen Moverley Smith QC and James Noble) in a just and equitable winding up petition (in the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands, Financial Services Division, before Hon. Justice Cresswell) brought in respect of a high technology company operating mainly in China and the GCC states. The case involved allegations of dishonest breach of fiduciary duty, viz. the misappropriation of share capital of US$9.2 million by the sole director. The seven day hearing raised issues of quasi-partnership, lack of probity, need for an investigation, oppression and alternative remedies. There were parallel US proceedings (in the US District Court, Western District of Washington) for, inter alia, securities fraud. The case also involved interesting ancillary questions as to the admissibility of evidence taken by deposition in the US, pursuant to s1782, USC, in circumstances where the deponent was not willing to formally testify in the Cayman proceedings. Petitioner’s team, from Appleby, led by Peter McMaster QC.

- Propinvest Group Limited (in Administration) v. Glenn Maud and others; (Bailiff Collas, Royal Court of Guernsey, 2012): Acting (with Advocate Ferguson) for a non-party caught by a freezing order preventing the exercise of a share pledge. Subsequently advised on whether conflicted in acting for director, subject to insurer's reservation of rights. The US$50 million claim is against all the directors of one of the world's leading CLO hedge funds, listed on Euronext, with US$1.2 billion AUM, in respect of a decision to invest $100 million in a start up real estate fund manager. The legal issues include whether Guernsey law should adopt the exceptions to the rule in Foss v. Harbottle or a similar position to that contained in the Companies Act 2006. The case also involved (a) detailed consideration (with Dutch lawyers, Loyens and Loeff) of the operation of Euroclear in order to dematerialise the Euronext listed shares to allow the shareholder to be entered on the register and thus be clearly permitted to bring the derivative claim i.e. not just a beneficial holding through a broker; (b) the first claim under s34 Protection of Investors Law (the equivalent of s150 FSMA) (c) the first directors duties claim under the Companies Law 2008 (d) the first claim
